SHG sustainable & Livelihood

SHG formation project is basically about the sustainable livelihood creation, designed especially for those women who are compelled to live below poverty line due to tough circumstances of life. They have no access to formal education for their children, no proper health care facilities for their family members, no access to credit facilities for starting income generation activities as means of livelihood. All these are due to poverty and lack of knowledge and awareness as well. We had covered women form 10000 women form BPL and most backward families of 5 Block in Ajmer District and planned the activities for their sustainable livelihood creation through community institutional development, Micro-credit mobilization and management, micro enterprises development and marketing & linkages

Self employment training program

Employment is a big issue among people of the area. Sensing it the organization has tried to motivate the youth and women seek, the opportunities in the local surrounding. We have tried to pursuer small scale units at the residing place and selling the output at the nearby market or in the city whichever beneficial for them. It will reduce their dependency on government and save the time and energy they waste in waiting for the opportunities. The market expending and there is growing demand of multiple numbers of items. Small firms based on such concept can cater the needs of it. The different eminent personalities were also invited to the project area to shower their experiences among the people. The organization with the available resources has tried to provide necessary support.

Women empowerment & capacity building

The women empowerment & capacity building program was organized by Rajasthan Samgrah Kalyan Sansthan in this program we made about their rights and benefits provided by the governmental scheme like widows pension for aged, women exploitation and its related rights etc. good knowledge of and exposure in marketing. Strong research and analytical skills ability to apply monitoring and evaluation techniques related to economic empowerment of women, including data collection and management.

Rural & agriculture development

Due to continuous drought like conditions agriculture has become a big challenge for the farming sector in the district. Keeping in view the organization has stressed on encouraging the ways to get more agriculture output with less water needs to crops. It has encouraged the farmers to use of drip irrigation and use of vermin compost manure in the field. The above ways are less expensive and conserve the water level in the ground. The output is also more. It is also suggested that the existing water sources should be preserved.

Animal Husbandry & vermin compost training

Animal husbandry and vermin compost training experience in integrating meaningful women's participation in research, programs and activities strong communication skills, both orally and in writing, in spite of geographic and cultural distance.
